ECZEMA SPREAD ALL OVER HANDS

Could Hardly Do Housework. Pimples Full of Matter. Itching and Burning Intense. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

P. O. Box 25, Albany, Vt. — "My hands were so affected with eczema that I could hardly do my house work for all summer.

The eczema broke out in pimples full of matter and the itching and burning were so intense that I scratched and made it spread all over my hands. They itched and burned so I could not sleep. I tried different kinds of salves, pills and liquids but to no success. Then I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I washed the sores with Cuticura Soap then let them dry and then I used the Cuticura Ointment. In a few nights I could sleep well and in two weeks my hands were completely cured." (Signed) Mrs. George Pelkey, Oct. 14, 1912.

A generation of mothers has found no soap so well suited for cleansing and purifying the skin and hair of infants and children as Cuticura Soap. Its absolute purity and refreshing fragrance alone are enough to recommend it above ordinary skin soaps, but there are added to these qualities delicate yet effective emollient properties, derived from Cuticura Ointment, which render it most valuable in overcoming a tendency to dandruff eruptions and promoting a normal condition of skin and hair health. Cuticura Soap (25c) and Cuticura Ointment (25c) sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

42¢ Must who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

DIRECT PRIMARY

Plans Discussed at Meeting Held at Montpelier

Montpelier, May 12.—The plan to provide an unofficial direct primary for making the Republican state and congressional nominations this year in case the legislature is not called in special session was taken up yesterday by the sub-committee appointed at the recent Republican conference at Burlington. Five of the members were present including Foster H. Dale of Island Pond, Hale K. Darling of Chelsea, Guy W. Bailey of Essex Junction, Stanley C. Wilson of Chelsea and Frank E. Howe of Bennington. Mr. Wilson acted as chairman.

Several members of the committee presented plans and these were read and compared. They were found to agree in the main on general principles but with many matters of detail yet to be decided. After being in session all the afternoon at the State House and making considerable progress the committee adjourned to meet again at White River Junction May 29.

The general plan considered is to submit all proposed candidates for places on the Republican ticket to the Republican voters and voters who desire to affiliate with the Republican party and let them decide by ballot whom they will have for nominees. The details to work out include plans to safeguard the direct vote as to secure a full, free and fair expression and then to provide that the expressed wish be made effective.

No matter how hard your beard or how sensitive your skin, a few drops of Toiletine, on the brush and rubbed in with the lather, will positively soften the hardest beard and make your morning shave a pleasure instead of a trial.

And, too, it will leave your face soothed and comfortable, without any of that scraped, sore feeling.

The only way to prove this is to try it. Let us send you

A Free Sample

A postal will bring it to you

TOILETINE

He has been an inmate of the industrial school at Vergennes but was released when the big building there was destroyed by fire.

His kindness in giving the lecture for the benefit of the school was greatly appreciated and by a good attendance and much interest shown. A committee consisting of Mrs. A. S. Hulcutt, Mrs. C. L. Hulcutt and Miss Henrietta Walbridge was appointed to perfect plans for a parents teachers organization.

Classic Ruses.

Palmerston used to greet all whom he did not know with "How d'ye do, and how's the old complaint?" which fitted all sorts and conditions of men. Trivial illustrations, indeed, which we may dismiss with this single note of recognition, that they are every whit as socially sincere as "literal truths" told often in such a way as to create an entirely false impression.

At times the ruse rises into a fine art. I recall the cunning artist who painted the beautiful Irish girl, twice a duchess, with a sunflower that turns from the sun to look at her, and Mrs. Gaskell's heroine, who, as amateur clerk, tries to make the old bookkeeper forget that she is a woman by whispering: "A millionaire peasant of Russia wished Engel to give piano lessons to his daughter, but in order to lessen the cost thought that she might do without learning the black keys. The master sat down at the piano and played Chopin's étude on the black keys so divinely that the father exclaimed: 'The devil take the 5 rubles! She shall learn to play on the black keys too.'"—Atlantic Monthly.

The Wrong Bertie.

Sir Francis Bertie was once the center of an amusing muddle at Windsor. It happened during the reign of Queen Victoria, when Sir Francis was permanent under secretary of state for foreign affairs. Wanting to consult Lord Ponsonby about a certain matter he telegraphed to him at Windsor: "Shall be down tonight, Bertie."

The telegram was shown to the queen, and as Bertie was the name she always used to her son, the late King Edward, she came to the conclusion that he was going to pay her an unexpected visit. When Sir Francis arrived he was considerably taken aback at the elaborate preparations that had been made to receive him, and the old queen laughed heartily at the trick he had so unconsciously played on her, but when he was leaving she suggested that he should in future sign his telegrams in some other way.—Pearson's Weekly.

Arms and the Child.

Girl scouts exist in Germany also. Instead of camp fire girls they call them something that sounds like a mixture of Fenimore Cooper and musical comedy—Pfadfinderessen is the literal translation. Apparently, too, they go in for being military with true German thoroughness. One reads how a head game warden presented himself at the shop of a dealer in firearms in Berlin and desired to purchase a revolver. "A revolver!" said the dealer. "I'm sorry, sir, but I've just sold the last gross of revolvers in the shop to the Potsdam battalion of girl scouts."
